

No Cease Fire New Year's Day

North Viets Renew Offer To Discuss POW Release

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong today broadcast a new offer to meet with U.S. representatives on New Year's Day to negotiate the release of three American prisoners of war. It came only hours after an allied announcement that there will be no cease-fire Jan. 1.

A similar meeting Christmas Day broke down when U.S. representatives charged the Viet Cong tried to lure them into a "propaganda circus."

A U.S. spokesman said today he had no immediate comment on the new offer, broadcast by the Viet Cong's Liberation Radio. But on Friday another spokesman had said the United States is willing to "go anywhere, any time" to negotiate the release of the prisoners.

The prisoners are Spec. 4 James W. Brigham of Ocala, Fla.; Spec. 4 Thomas N. Jones, Lynnville, Ind., and Pfc. Donald C. Smith, Akron, Pa.

The Christmas Day meeting, held during a 24-hour holiday truce, broke down over Viet Cong demands that the American delegation discuss "formalities" prior to talks about freeing the prisoners. The U.S. team of five Army officers said it wanted to discuss only the date, time and place for the prisoner release.

The five Viet Cong representatives said the prisoners were not available and they had no authority in that regard. Instead they invited the U.S. delegates to sit down with them at a table and partake of refreshments.

Earlier today U.S. and South Vietnamese spokesmen announced they will not observe a cease-fire on New Year's Day because of more than 140 enemy violations of the Christmas truce. New Year truces had been observed the past two years.

The Viet Cong broadcast proposed the meeting be held at the same paddyfield site as the Christmas meeting, 50 miles northwest of Saigon near the Cambodian border.

It demanded that American and South Vietnamese forces halt all military operations near the meeting site and also respect the 72-hour New Year's cease-fire called by the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

A spokesman for the U.S. Mission in Saigon said: "I'd prefer not to comment until we've studied the text." He said Washington authorities would want to study some aspects of the proposed cease-fire before reaching a decision.

The Viet Cong broadcast said the NLF "appeals to all U.S. pacifist organizations to cooperate in the release of the U.S. prisoners, to create all proper conditions so they can soon be reunited with their families."

Military spokesmen said 17 persons were killed during the 24-hour Christmas cease-fire: two U.S. soldiers, two civilians and 13 South Vietnamese troops —and 71 persons were wounded. Fierce, close-quarter fighting was reported on the approaches to South Vietnam's two largest cities, and the U.S. Command announced it has closed Camp Carroll, a major artillery base 100 miles north of Da Nang.

Allied forces claimed killing 236 enemy in four battles Friday along the approaches to Saigon and South Vietnam's second largest city, Da Nang. U.S. losses were two killed and 27 wounded, while government losses were 27 killed and 66 wounded.

Apollo 8 Crew 'In Great Shape' For Trip Home

ABOARD USS YORKTOWN (AP) — The Apollo 8 astronauts continue physical debriefings aboard this carrier today before flying to the United States and a belated Christmas with their families.

"They're in great shape," reported Dr. Clarence A. Jernigan, a space agency physician aboard the carrier.

Jernigan said Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders seemed to be in better condition than many astronauts who returned from earth orbital missions.

"They look great and are looking better all the time, completely alert and very happy," Jernigan commented after the astronauts completed an extensive five-hour examination following their pinpoint splashdown in the Pacific Ocean Friday.

The astronauts had been in space for six days, three hours, during which they soared outward toward the moon for 69 hours, circled it for 20 hours, then made a 58-hour run back to their home planet.

They landed in darkness within three miles of this carrier and were quickly retrieved by helicopter. The landing point was 1,043 miles southwest of Hawaii.

Borman, Lovell and Anders planned to fly off the carrier about 5 p.m. EST today, heading for Hickam Air Force Base, Hawaii, where they are to transfer to a C141 transport plane for a flight to Ellington Air Force Base, Tex., near their Houston homes.

They are to arrive at Ellington at 5 a.m. Sunday, where their families will be waiting to welcome them.

After a late Christmas celebration, the astronauts will begin nine days of intensive debriefings in which experts will question them about all aspects of the flight, from the performance of the Saturn 5 rocket that fired them away from earth, to their views of the lunar surface and the performance of their spaceship.

They've already described the moon as being a colorless, desolate spot, highlighted by boulder-strewn plateaus, cratered plains and rugged mountains.

But preliminary analysis of what they saw and learned has strengthened America's desire to land men on the moon next year. The astronauts reported they had no trouble detecting land features or navigating around the moon, and they said a spot picked as a likely landing zone "is a very good one indeed."

Space officials at Houston told a news conference that they were optimistic that the Apollo 8 flight would lead the way to lunar landings, large space stations and trips to the planets.

The Apollo 9 flight, scheduled Feb. 28, will be an earth orbit mission with the main goal of testing the Lunar Module, the space taxi which is to drop two astronauts to the lunar surface while the third orbits in the main Apollo ship.

Apollo 10 is to follow in May. It presently is planned as a moon orbit flight in which two astronauts will fly as close as 50,000 miles of the surface in a lunar module.

If there are no problems on these two flights, Apollo 11 probably will attempt a moon landing next July or August. The crew for that flight will be named in January.

Say Ohio Leader In Job Fairness

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Bureau of Employment Services chief Willard P. Dudley said Friday that Ohio is a leader in fighting discrimination in job placement.

Dudley, at a news conference here, said that federal charges of discrimination in his bureau were "vindictiveness" by a U.S. Labor Department official.

A federal suit charging discrimination had never been specific in its charges, Dudley told newsmen.

Red Blast Poses Problem For Nixon

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Red China has set off another nuclear blast, its seventh since October 1964. This ominous event is bound to underscore a special set of problems for the incoming American president.

The new test Friday, first in 1½ years, was comparable in strength to the last one, a hydrogen bomb blast. This suggests that Red China is getting ready for an attempt to thrust itself forcefully into the long-range missile club.

Once again, the deadly equation looms. If China's emergence as a missile power is regarded as a threat to the United States, there is probably going to be pressure for a new missile buildup.

Thus, a China buildup is likely to have a sharply adverse effect on hopes for an East-West meeting of minds which might bring the missile race within the bounds of rationality. China still officially denounces any effort to slow the spread of nuclear weapons as a "gigantic fraud" hatched by Russians and Americans to keep their own big power monopoly.

China's nuclear program, once under way, developed with remarkable speed. The first test of an old-fashioned atom bomb was in October 1964; the second, bigger and more sophisticated, in May 1965; the third a year later. The fourth, in October 1966, was a missile with a range of up to 600 miles and armed with a punch of 20,000 tons of TNT. The fifth was on Christmas Eve 1966 and the sixth in June 1967, a hydrogen bomb.

The program then seemed to bog down. There was evidence of a failure in January 1968. Then the tumultuous cultural revolution seemed to interfere. There were some attacks on scientists for pursuing a "revisionist line" in defense research.

However, the evidence now is that the cultural revolution has been slowed down, if it is not a thing of the past, and that an attempt is being made to restore stability. This would permit scientists to work unhindered, and to go forward in the program again with the speed exhibited in the past.

As they push ahead with their missile program, it is always a possibility that the Chinese will lob a long-range missile into some provocative area—say the Indian Ocean, to frighten non-Communist Asia, or even in the Pacific, perhaps to demonstrate an ability to reach Hawaii. What impact would that have?

It seems likely that the pressures on the Nixon administration then would become intense from two sides: One to step up America's own missile program; the other for an effort to communicate directly with China—perhaps even to recognize Peking—in an attempt to bring it within talking distance.

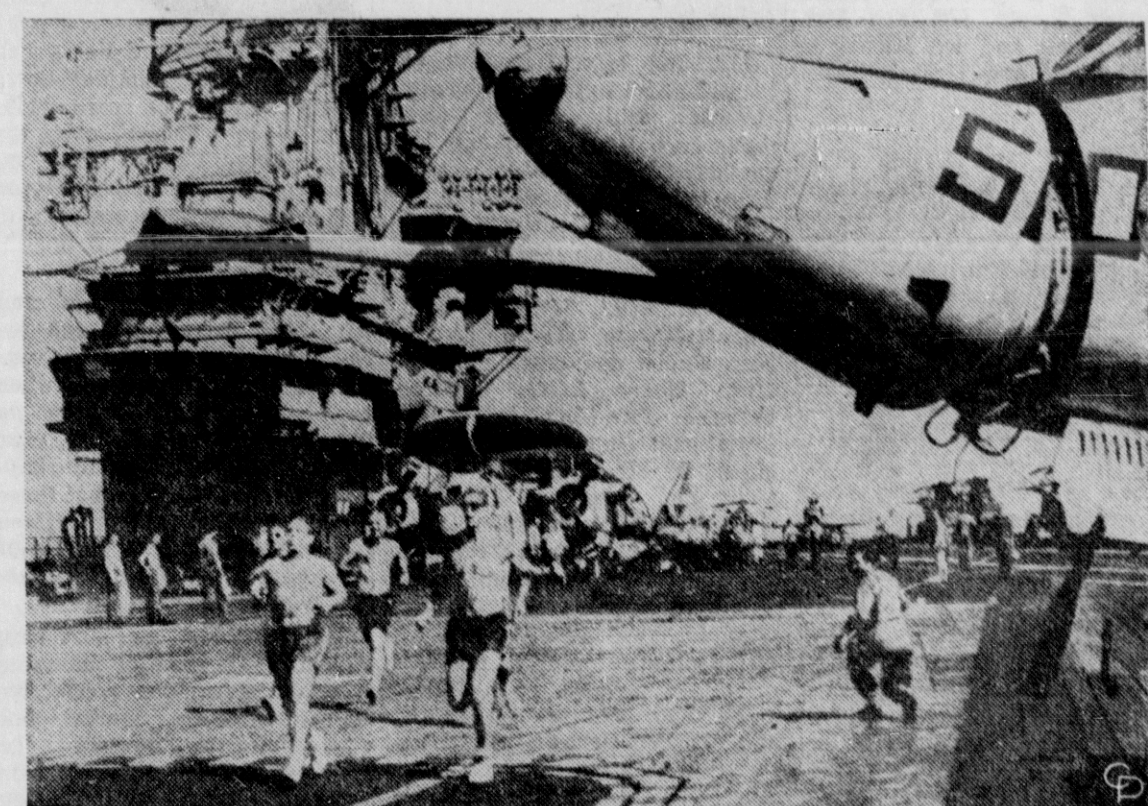

Negro Unit To March In Rose Bowl Parade

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The all-Negro "Buffalo Soldiers," famed Indian fighters of the 1860s, will ride again New Year's Day in the Rose Parade.

Fourteen Negroes interested in black military history will ride in the parade dressed in the uniforms of the 10th Cavalry.

The all-black regiment served in the West from 1866 until World War II, when it was renamed and re-equipped as a tank and mechanized infantry outfit. The present members of the historical-equestrian group are veterans of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps and many fought in World War II and Korea.

Plane Crash Claims 27

O'Hare Field Crackup Leaves 27 Survivors

CHICAGO (AP) — A North Central Airlines twin-engine plane attempting to land at mist-covered O'Hare International Airport Friday night slammed into a hangar and burst into flames.

North Central officials said 27 persons were killed and Cook County Chicago authorities said 27 bodies were counted in the wreckage, which burned for more than an hour.

Eight boys, members of a drum and bugle team which had just ended a practice session in the empty hangar, were among the 27 persons admitted to hospitals.

The crackup occurred when the plane apparently missed a runway in the fog and drizzle which shrouded O'Hare, the world's busiest airport.

The plane, Flight 458 which originated in Minneapolis, may have had an extra passenger. A North Central spokesman said that an off-duty pilot may have been riding in a jump seat behind the pilot. This would make a total of 46 aboard the plane.

Spokesmen for two hospitals near O'Hare said many of the injured persons suffered smoke inhalation.

The pilot, Capt. Marvin A. Payne of Lakeland, Minn.; the first officer, Gerald R. Levalley of Bloomington, Minn., and the flight officer, Richard W. M. Kargel of Burnsville, Minn., were killed.

The stewardess, Jean A. Krochek of Minneapolis, was injured.

The fatalities were the first in North Central's 20-year history. The airline operates in 11 Midwestern states and had flown 3.1 billion passenger miles without a fatality.

Forty members of the Vanguard Drum and Bugle Corps of suburban Des Plaines had been practicing in the hangar, which is shared by Braniff and Northwest Airlines, minutes before the turboprop crashed through the front doors and virtually disintegrated and exploded in flames.

Officials said they could not determine why the plane hit the hangar which is about a half-mile east of runway. Federal Aviation Administration controllers said weather conditions were above the minimum for a landing on the intended runway. Visibility was about one mile. Navy Tribunal To Study Reasons For Pueblo Loss

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A high-level court of inquiry—which can recommend anything from bravery medals to courts martial—has been ordered by the Navy to study the loss of the intelligence ship Pueblo.

The court of five admirals was directed Friday by the Pacific Fleet commander, Adm. John J. Hyland, to "inquire into the circumstances relating to the seizure of the USS Pueblo and the subsequent detention of the vessel and the officers and crew."

Basic issues to be decided include whether the Pueblo's skipper, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, had the "power to resist" when his ship was taken by the North Koreans.

A spokesman said the court also will consider whether statements allegedly made by the crew members during their 11-month confinement constituted violations of the military Code of Conduct—although the Navy said such violations are "not a criminal offense" and cannot be prosecuted.

The court will not meet for several weeks—until intensive intelligence debriefings of the crewmen is completed. It can only make recommendations to higher officials and has no power to take punitive or disciplinary action, the Navy said.

At the same time, the Navy disclosed that the two top officers and nine other crewmen aboard the Pueblo at the time of its capture were wounded by North Korean gunfire.

One, fireman Duane D. Hodges of Creswell, Ore., was mortally wounded. The injuries of the others have healed, the Navy said. Bucher, the executive officer, Lt. Edward R. Murphy, and the eight other crewmen will receive Purple Heart medals in a ceremony next week.

The Navy also disclosed that Bucher is suffering from physical and emotional exhaustion and has been moved to a private room in a building separate from the other crew quarters at the U.S. Naval Hospital.

In explaining the court of inquiry, Capt. Gale E. Krouse, Pacific Fleet senior judge advocate, told a news conference there "will be no speculation on what could or would" be done to members of the crew for the loss of the ship and for any actions while they were prisoners of North Korea.

"We cannot answer inquiries on any alleged crimes . . . or on the conduct of the crew . . . until the court of inquiry has completed its work," Krouse said.

Jail Escapees Steal More Cars

UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — Two Wyandot County jail escapees were believed involved in four stolen car cases in two states, authorities here learned Friday.

Officials said that Fred Raymond Brown, 18, of Nevada, and Herman Eiler, 31, wanted for auto theft in Baltimore, Md., also may have stolen a fifth auto. They escaped from the jail Christmas night.

Body Of Trucker Pulled From Quarry

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Workers Friday pulled the body of a Barnesville truck driver and his tractor-trailer mail rig from 40 feet of water in a stone quarry southwest of here.

The rig, driven by Alvin G. Stephens, 46, skidded on slippery U.S. 22 Thursday and plunged down a 50 foot embankment into the water. Workers also retrieved 75 mail pouches. The mail was to be returned to Zanesville, dried and sorted.

Peace Hopes Buoyed

Johnson Reflects On Last 5 Years

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson says he has been told by his No. 2 Vietnam peace negotiator that there are indications the stalled Paris talks may move off dead center soon.

In a wide-ranging news conference in Washington Friday, the President said that Cyrus Vance, deputy U.S. negotiator at Paris, told him earlier this week that "He believes we can get going on substantive talks after his return there and we are just praying that can be true."

Vance returned to Paris Friday after a trip to the United States to brief officials on the talks. He reported what he had told the President when he arrived in Paris.

Vietnam was very much on Johnson's mind during the news conference, in which he said the failure to end the war was the major disappointment of his five years in office.

He said that in spite of the sorrow and regret at the continuing deaths of Americans in the Southeast Asian war, he has enjoyed every minute of his time in the White House.

And the President added he is proud of the achievements of his administration, although he said there was much more that should have been done.

The President was clearly buoyed up by the week's events, including the fantastic success of the Apollo 8 moon mission, the release of the Pueblo crew and Cambodia's return of American prisoners.

"We are generally very happy and thankful for the good breaks that are coming our way," he said. The only thing that would make him happier, he added, would be peace in Vietnam.

"It would just be paradise if we could end that thing," he said. "But we must end it with honor."

"We just have to hope and pray and do the best we can, right up until the bell rings, which we are all going to do."

Following the news conference Johnson flew to his Texas ranch looking for some warm sun to help him shake off a cold and cough that have bothered him for nearly two months. He was greeted by bright sun, a 70-degree temperature and a forecast of slightly cooler weather for the weekend.

He said he would use the time at the ranch to tie up some remaining loose ends of his administration before stepping aside Jan. 20 for Richard M. Nixon.

The chief tasks facing him are the preparation of a budget, an economic message to Congress and a State of the Union address.

He said he expected to stay at his ranch through New Year's Day.

Johnson's mood of confidence and satisfaction with the way things have been going lately dominated the news conference, but each time he referred enthusiastically to the accomplishments of his administration he brought himself up short by recalling the Vietnam war.

"Advances in space are wonderful," he said. "Great movements forward in education and health—that is good. Making this a more beautiful land, all we have done in conservation, we are thankful for that."

"But what really counts is whether we can keep people from dying and whether we can get our men home."

citizens up to date on the final minutes of the flight.

"Due tribute should be paid to the courage and mastery of Frank Borman, William Anders and James Lovell, who have accomplished this outstanding scientific and technical experiment," said Tass.

Ten Soviet cosmonauts followed every step of the mission closely, they said in their congratulatory message to the Apollo 8 crew. They hailed the flight as "another milestone in scientific and technical progress."

A Tokyo fifth grader said: "When I grow up I can visit the moon, thanks to Apollo 8's pioneering orbit around the moon."

Embassy and broke into cheers when told the spacecraft was safely down.

East German television gave the facts of the mission and made no comment. It allotted Apollo the same amount of television time as a report on a new Soviet bus.

Czechoslovaks received a satellite television broadcast of the recovery and a radio commentator in Prague said "In some countries the communications media did not devote appropriate attention to this courageous step in man's path to the moon."

Radio Moscow and Tass, the Soviet news agency, kept Soviet Freezing Rain, Snow Plague Much Of U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two major winter storms punished a large part of the nation today and posed a menace to highway travel in the Pacific Northwest and from the Central Plains to New England.

Snow, freezing rain and heavy downpours hit an area from Kansas and Nebraska to New England. Dense fog added to the woes of motorists in much of the area.

Severe thunderstorms raced across the South and erupted into tornadoes Friday night in portions of East Texas. Three twisters churned into the Texas-Kan area. One of the worst whipped through the Texas community of Atlanta and caused some damage in the business district. No deaths or injuries were reported. The tornadoes touched down in more than a half dozen other East Texas areas.

Cold air over the Plains and Midwest turned daylong rains into a highway-glazing mixture during the night. Snow later coated already treacherous roadways.

Travelers warnings were posted from Eastern Kansas and Nebraska into the Northeast. Snow was the rule in the northern Midwest, and heavy snow was forecast for portions of the Northeast by nightfall.

South of the freezing weather, hail and torrential rains swept portions of Alabama and Mississippi. Downpours of 1 to 2 inches ranged northward into Tennessee and Arkansas.

Temperatures slid far below zero across the northern Rockies before daybreak. Cut Bank, Mont., registered 25 below.

World Cheers Astronauts' Space Triumph

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"It must be great to be an American tonight," a Soviet citizen told an American in Moscow after the return of the Apollo 8 astronauts. A Tokyo cab driver described the moon-circling voyage as "the greatest experience in a lifetime."

The splashdown of the Apollo 8 in the Pacific Ocean Friday sparked praise from foreign leaders and ordinary citizens listening on radio or watching television.

"Great, Great, Great—the World Salutes America," was the headline across the front page of London's Daily Mirror.

"This voyage . . . has added a new dimension to our appreciation that it is indeed one world," said British Prime Minister Harold Wilson in a message to President Johnson.

In Paris, where the U.S. Embassy said its switchboard was jammed with congratulatory calls, one Frenchman watching a satellite broadcast of the recovery on a shop window television said: "I've never had any particular love for Americans, but I'm really happy with their success. The Americans did everything out in the open, not like the others."

Mrs. Toni Seifert, a West German sales clerk, said: "We needed an inspiration and this was almost religious."

In Rome cheers broke out in the streets at splashdown. An elderly Roman said to an American, "Magnificent! Splendid Signor, my compliments."

Pope Paul VI, who watched the Apollo 8 recovery on television in his Vatican apartment last sent President Johnson a telegram saying:

"Giving thanks to God for the successful completion of the magnificent enterprise of the Apollo 8 mission, we congratulate you and the people of the United States of America and particularly the intrepid space travelers, and invoke divine blessings upon all contributing to this noble achievement."

In Warsaw, about 250 Poles gathered in the lobby of the U.S.

Home Agent Tips

Few wintertime delights can compare with chugging down a mountainside of fresh white snow — or whistling over the ice on skates. Besides being fun, these sports beautify your figure and color your complexion with the rosy glow of good health. But, lady beware!

Wintery winds, cold air, and the glare from snow and ice can also chap and parch your complexion. And even when your "winter sports" are no more than shoveling snow, your hands can become equally chapped and rough. So combat these problems diligently throughout the whole season if you want to enhance the special beauty that wintertime bestows.

For one thing, you can take advantage of some of the same precautions that are so effective in the summer. Soothe your eyes, and protect the surrounding delicate skin against wrinkling, by wearing sunglasses while you're out in the glaring ice and snow. And wear a protective but non-greasy sunburn lotion. This is actually as important now as it is in July, because cutting winds while you ski or toboggan — plus the glare from snow — can produce burns as painful as a torrid summer sun does.

Just as basic to winter glamour is a concentrated program of steam-and-cream baths. The scrupulous cleanliness they produce is a mainstay of that porcelain loveliness for which every woman longs. And scrubbing the face gently but firmly — with upward motions — removes chapped dead skin which is both unattractive and irritating. A dried-out complexion should be lubricated, too, and here is one of the very best ways to do it.

WHILE running your bath water, give yourself a soapsuds facial at the lavatory — applying quantities of rich lather, and massaging it into your skin for deep cleansing. Then rinse well and apply lubricating cream. As you bathe, the steam will help the cream to penetrate more efficiently. Later, wash off the lubrication; if your skin still tends to dryness, use a lubricating foundation under your make-up.

Your hands will also benefit from soapsuds and softening. Apply hand cream or lotion each time they have been in water. You can even lubricate your hands overnight. Just protect your bed linens by wearing loose white gloves; some gloves and mitts are even made especially for this purpose. The gloves, incidentally, should be washed after every wearing.

Now it is possible to toss even full length draperies into a washing machine for periodic sudsing, and then hang them without ironing. The secret is a new aero-cellular acrylic lining which is permanently fused to the fibers of drapery material, making it permanently launderable.

These self-lined draperies come with pinch pleats, mitered corners, blind stitches, and deep hems. Among other features: they look pretty from outdoors; muffle outside noises, are opaque for privacy, insulate against cold and heat to keep the home warmer in winter and cooler in summer, and have a soft "hand" that assures good "hang."

Perhaps the most important feature of all is a washing instruction label that is sewn into every single one of the drapery panels. The manufacturer advises shaking the draperies to remove dust, using warm soap or detergent suds, allowing the automatic washer to go through its complete washing and extracting cycles, re-hanging full length while damp, and fingershaping the pinchpleats. With multi-size ready-made draperies so easy to keep clean, there really is no excuse for neglecting to remove and launder them every time the windows are washed.

Livestock Deaths Due To Moldy Feed Studied

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

A clearer understanding of livestock damage caused by moldy feed is leading to better diagnosis and control of fungus-caused problems.

Research indicates that mold can reduce production efficiency and cause death. ARS specialists suggest that farmers seek laboratory tests and post-mortem examinations to establish the cause of unexplained abortions in cattle or poor growth and death losses in swine.

The mold Aspergillus fumigatus, for example, causes several diseases in poultry and livestock, including fungal abortion in cattle. Livestock need not eat contaminated feed to get into trouble; mold spores enter as easily when animals merely breathe sporeladen dust from moldy hay.

Aspergillus flavus causes damage indirectly by producing a poison called aflatoxin, which may kill swine by disorganizing and destroying liver cells. Small amounts of aflatoxin administered experimentally over a period of time cause pigs to use feed inefficiently and grow slower; a single, larger dose produced death in 1 to 7 days.

ARS veterinarian S. J. Cysewski and scientists at the National Animal Disease Laboratory, Ames, Iowa, followed the exact progression of aflatoxin damage.

Young pigs weighing about 33 pounds become listless and began shivering 6 hours after receiving orally about 29 mg. of crude aflatoxin — a dose known to be lethal. They stopped eating but continued drinking. Droppings were stained with blood after 24 hours, and pigs started dying from then on.

Post-mortem examination of pigs at various stages of the study confirmed that liver damage started 3 hours after aflatoxin was administered. Extent and severity of damage increased, and most liver cells were destroyed within 72 hours. Remaining cells showed various signs of internal disorganization.

Plant poisons or tars that pigs may chew out of old roofing and clay pigeons cause liver changes similar to those caused by aflatoxin. The best specific diagnosis, Cysewski found, is to check either the feed or urine of stricken pigs first for traces of aflatoxin in natural or metabolically altered forms. This is readily done by thin-layer chromatography, a chemical method for separating and identifying related substances in complex mixtures. Aflatoxin poisoning is then confirmed by finding the toxin and typical liver damage in autopsied pigs.

Pigs in these tests received aflatoxin derived from known strains of mold grown on rice in the laboratory. But Cysewski says that the symptoms and evidence of liver damage were indistinguishable from those observed by other scientists in field cases.

Postal Department Gives Up Fight On Solons' Free Mail

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office Department, accused by a Republican senator of doing hatchet work for President Johnson, said today it was giving up its watchdog role over congressional mailing privileges.

The decision, which said congressmen should decide for themselves whether the franking or free mail privileges were being properly used, made no mention of charges by Michigan's Robert P. Griffin.

But the senator issued a statement saying both he and the department, which passes from Democratic to Republican hands next month, will benefit. He said he will press for Congress to draw up its own guidelines in the next session.

During the peak of the controversy last fall over Abe Fortas' nomination as chief justice of the United States, the Post Office Department accused Griffin of misusing the franking privilege and said he owed the government $25,000.

Griffin led the successful fight to block nomination of Fortas, an old friend and adviser of the President's.

"When you stick your neck out and buck the Johnson administration, I guess you have to expect this sort of thing," Griffin said at the time.

The new decision follows a Nov. 26 meeting between Griffin and Postmaster Gen. W. Marvin Watson at which Griffin said he submitted a 15-page legal memo arguing he had not misused the franking privilege as charged during his tough 1967 campaign.

The department said Griffin had franked a newsletter that had political—and therefore improper—implications in its reprint of a statement by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman.

Until now, Post Office policy has been to issue rulings on possible violations of the privilege, leaving collection or prosecution to some other agency.

Because congressmen use the privilege to report on their activities in Washington, a good deal of which are naturally political, misuse falls into a gray area that makes enforcement hard. As far as it is known there have never been any convictions.

Grain Sorghum Fattening Cattle

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Grain sorghum hybrids containing a high concentration of tannin in the immature seed coat have been creating much interest in the part several years as a substitute grain crop for corn in areas of Ohio where increasing populations of red-wing blackbirds have caused serious economic losses.

In Research Center field trials, these grain sorghums were found to be well-adapted to Ohio conditions, producing yields ranging from 82 to 170 bushels per acre. Subsequent studies have verified this. The high tannin content apparently makes the grain bitter and unpalatable to the birds. However, not much information has been available on feeding value of the bird resistant sorghums for livestock.

These grain sorghums have been introduced into Ohio as replacements for corn in areas where many feeders are located. Therefore, the need developed to determine the feeding value of bird resistant grain sorghum for fattening cattle.

Studies were initiated at Center headquarters in Wooster and at the OARDC Northwest Branch in Wood County to determine the value of bird resistant grain sorghum for fattening steers compared to corn when fed as either grain or as silage. This study is being done by Drs. Klosterman, Fox and Newland.

Census By Mail Will Cut U.S. Work Force

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government figures its plans for a do-it-yourself, census-by-mail in the nation's largest cities in 1970 will trim its force of census takers by 50,000.

The 1960 technique of mailing census questionnaires to the whole country and sending out census takers to collect them would require about 200,000 temporary workers in 1970, the Census Bureau said Wednesday.

But by having heads of households in the major cities—with about 60 per cent of the population—fill out the forms and return them by mail, only about 150,000 census takers will be needed, the bureau said.

Census takers will again collect the questionnaires in rural areas and smaller towns and cities. And they'll follow up by telephone or personal visits in major cities when householders don't mail back the forms or don't answer all the questions.

In test runs since 1961, the bureau said, 65 to 91 per cent of the householders have mailed back the forms.

Money Award Lies Fallow

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Arthur Lambert, 47, waited six years after a jury awarded him $60,000 in traffic injury damages to withdraw the $35,117 that remained after court costs and lawyer fees. He had said he wanted to appeal the amount of the award but the time limit on appeals expired.

If the money had been put into a savings account in 1962, authorities estimated it would have earned $8,000 in interest. It drew no interest in the county clerk's office.

Lambert, picking up the money, said he needed funds because his wife needed an operation.

"LOTS OF MOONSHINE, and cornpone for breakfast, supper and midnight snacks, too," is the formula for a long life, says Hannah Bennett, 106, at the Wild Hill Manor Nursing Home in Gary, Ind. She was born to slave parents in Middtown, Ala., has outlived four husbands and three children.

Net energy is the most accurate measure of the energy value of a feed. For fattening cattle, it measures the amount of energy left for growth and fattening after the energy lost through the feces, urine, combustible gases, and heat increment are subtracted from the gross energy in the feed consumed.

The method used for estimating the net energy values of the different feeds was developed by Lofgreen at the California Agricultural Experiment Station. With the Lofgreen method, a randomly selected group of cattle, representative of those fed each ration, is slaughtered at the beginning and end of the experiment. Carcasses are weighed underwater to determine their specific gravity.

From this information, the initial and final body composition of the cattle are calculated. By knowing the pounds of fat and protein gain, the amount of energy that was stored from the measured amount of feed consumed during the experiment can be determined. A constant is used to estimate the amount of energy expended for maintenance.

At Wooster, a steel silo was filled with finely chopped corn silage made from well-earled, well-matured, whole plant corn. A concrete stave silo was filled with finely chopped grain sorghum silage made from mature, whole plant bird-resistant grain sorghum. Finely ground No. 2 shelled corn and Arkansas 614 grain sorghum were the grains evaluated.

Protein supplement in the rations contain meal (71.6 percent), "281" feed grade urea containing 45 percent nitrogen (11.2 percent), dehydrated alfalfa meal (6 percent), dicalcium phosphate (5.6 percent), trace mineralized salt (5.6 percent), and 20,000 IU of vitamin A and 7,500 IU of vitamin D per pound.

Choice grade Hereford steer calves were used in the trials. These calves were shipped to Ohio in early October then observed for 6 weeks for sickness. During this period they were fed mixed hay free choice.

On November 21, steers were divided into 10 weight groups of eight steers each. One steer was randomly selected from each of the weight groups to form each lot, resulting in eight lots of cattle approximately equal in weight. All steers were implanted in the ear with 39 mg. of stilbestrol and the experiment was initiated.

Three randomly selected steers were slaughtered to determine initial body composition. Each ration was fed to two lots of cattle, and all lots received one pound per head daily in the 60 percent protein supplement. Steers fed grain rations received 4 pounds per head daily of mixed hay.

Four weeks prior to the termination of the experiment, the cattle in each lot were divided into four weight groups. One steer was randomly selected from each weight group to be slaughtered for determination of final body composition. One steer was slaughtered from each lot for 4 successive weeks.

As the representative steers were removed for slaughter, the other cattle in their weight group were weighed and removed from the experiment. Empty body weights and energy gains of all cattle were determined using percentages obtained from the groups which were slaughtered.

Steers fed corn silage or corn grain rations gained faster, required fewer pounds of feed per 100 pounds of gain, and stored more energy per day than those fed grain sorghum silage or sorghum grain rations. Corn rations had a higher net energy value per pound of dry matter than did grain sorghum rations.

Corn silage had a higher feeding value in relation to shelled corn than did sorghum silage in relation to sorghum grain.

The results are in agreement with comparisons between corn and grain sorghums at other universities and emphasize the high feeding value of corn silage particularly when considering the pounds of beef that can be produced per acre.

At the Northwestern Branch, no corn silage was available. However, coarse-ground grain sorghum silage was compared to fine-ground silage for yearling steers. The fine-ground sorghum silage produced significantly better daily gains and in the evaluation of carcass data, steers fed fine-ground sorghum silage had larger rib eyes. Comparisons of shelled corn with sorghum grain substantiated the results of the Wooster trials.

1st Ohio Assembly, Today's Much Alike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — When the 108th Ohio General Assembly convenes Jan. 6, the problems confronting the lawmakers won't be far different than those presented to the state's first legislature 170 years ago.

The Ohio Historical Society notes that problems of transportation, welfare, race relations, higher education, law and order and taxes face the legislators in the coming session just as they did when the first assemblymen were elected Dec. 17, 1798, to govern the Northwest Territory.

In a three-month session in Cincinnati, the 22 representatives and five legislative councilmen formed 39 laws and took other actions on issues very similar to those challenging today's legislators.

In a review of that first legislature, the historical society said that since many of those lawmakers had ridden hundreds of miles on horseback through the wilderness to get to the session, they quickly turned their attention to laws regulating building and repairing of highways and bridges and operation of ferries.

One law required all males 21 to 50 to work two days a year on public roads, or pay a fine of 75 cents a day.

Another exempted ferrykeepers from militia duty, repairing highways and serving on juries, but required them to operate their boats daily from daylight until dark. Anyone operating a private ferry for pay within five miles of a public ferry could be fined $20.

Poor relief, the assembly decreed, would be handled by farming out "all poor persons, who have or shall become a public charge," to low bidders at a yearly public auction. Each county was to levy a tax to pay the sums "for which the poor ... shall have been sold."

This procedure, the society said, was preferred to jailing of debtors, partly because it cost 12 cents a day to feed a prisoner.

The issue of race was taken before that first assembly when former officers of the Virginia Line petitioned to bring slaves into the area between the Little Miami and Scioto Rivers.

The assembly rejected the petition on the basis that it was incompatible with the Northwest Ordinance of 1787, which prohibited slavery north of the Ohio River.

A second petition, which resulted in a bill to "admit people of color by indenture" also was rejected by the legislators, who believed, aside from moral grounds, that slavery would retard settlement by making labor less reputable.

As for higher education, the assembly appointed three trustees to lay out a plat for a college within the two townships in Washington (now Athens) County which previously had been set aside for endowing a university.

The law and order issue came before the first assembly because law enforcement was haphazard and there were as yet no adequate jails. Severe punishments were common, such as the law that an arsonist "shall suffer death."

Those who reveled or worked on Sundays—ferryman excepted—and those 16 and over who cursed or were drunk in public and caused disturbances, received fines up to $2 or were jailed up to 48 hours. Cock-fighting, horse racing, and playing cards, dice, billiards, bowls, and "shovel-board" for gambling purposes were prohibited, as were fistfights and dueling. The last carried the stiffest penalty—a fine of $250 or a year in jail.

The assembly, to finance the territorial government, levied taxes on land, ranging from 25 cents per 100 acres for third rate land to 85 cents per 100 acres for first rate land. Counties were also authorized to tax houses, lots, horses, cattle, bond servants, bachelors, ferries, retailers and water and windmills.

Animal Shelter Ransacked Again

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The Humane Society's animal shelter office has been ransacked three times by burglars in recent months. There never were fewer than 100 dogs in the shelter during any burglary, but if any sounded an alarm, the barks went unheeded in the normal din. So the shelter acquired Baron, a 75-pound German Shepherd, from the sheriff's department. Baron flunked out of training as a sheriff's dog—because he bit a deputy's daughter. The Humane Society said Baron will not be caged during the night.

Police Chief's Column Popular

By BOB COTLEUR
Lorain Journal Writer

WELLINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Four years ago the Village of Wellington, population 4,000, hired Rudy Neumann as chief of police.

The village hasn't been the same since.

The one-time farmer and former sergeant on the Oberlin Police Department thought he had a problem when he took over.

"The department had a black eye," he said. "So I started writing my column as a kind of public relations thing to show people the police weren't riding around all the time, or sitting on their can drinking coffee."

The column, printed weekly in The Wellington Enterprise, is called "The Police Blotter." A typical example of his entries:

"May 13—8:07 p.m. Gas station called, had an intoxicated person hanging around. Officer checked person out—just a hobo. He was given a ride the shortest way out of town."

Neumann doesn't like to use names unless it's an auto accident or the people are from out of town.

"Hell, he don't need to," said one villager. "He talks about one street and there's only three houses on that street so everybody knows who he means."

For three years the column sailed along without trouble. Then, the village council decided that the column was too real. Charles Gristle, owner of a drug store in town, said some of the councilmen thought a continuing incident reported in the column was giving the town a black eye.

Council voted 4-2 in favor of telling the chief to cease writing it.

He did. Gristle didn't agree with council. He started a petition and got about 200 signatures before council reopened the question and took a new vote.

"This time it was six to nothing to have it reinstated," Mayor Robert L. Young said. "I liked it. . . . It has its good points."

Neumann resumed the column and he hasn't stopped writing it since. He's somewhat handicapped because he lost fingers on his right hand in a corn picker 10 years ago but Neumann types with real concentration.

Neumann, 42, concedes his department isn't any booming business.

"Our biggest case since I've been here, was when we put a 19-year-old lad away for possession of narcotics and using them with juveniles," he said.

Neumann is married and has five children. He's big on 4-H club work and started such clubs both here and at Oberlin. "I like kids," he said. "I usually give talks to the kids about to enter kindergarten. I try to impress them with the law. There isn't much you can do about older people, but the kids are the country's future leaders and you can impress them."

"Sure they know who the chief writes about," Gristle said of the townspeople. "But he's a good, sincere man . . . a man with a sense of humor."

John Clark, a tavern owner, said the column is a new form of law enforcement.

"Because of that man's column I believe the same people don't appear twice," he said. "I know I'd avoid it. Once is enough."

Alphabet Era Departs

Everyone has heard of LBJ, HHH, FDR, JFK AND RFK. But who is RMN? The next president of the United States, that's who. Could it be that a new age is dawning with a new administration in Washington?

Could it be that the alphabet age is coming to an end? It all apparently started when headline writers were confronted by Teddy Roosevelt. It is practically impossible to write a head containing a name like that unless one uses rubber type.

So TR became a household symbol. Other presidents more or less fell in line. Taft, of course, presented no space problems and no one remembers his initials because they weren't used.

But there was the other Roosevelt who not only became plain old FDR, but was largely responsible for starting all those alphabet agencies in government. You know — TVA, REA, IRS, FCC, ICC, CAB, etc., etc. Not that FDR was responsible for all of these, but he set the pattern.

Then there was HST, which was considerably shorter than Harry. Of course, Ike started a new trend in abbreviations and nobody got to know him as DDE. But every since, it has been back to the alphabet soup.

Until RMN. The width of these letters doesn't take up much less space than Nixon, although some editors have become attached to Dick. It looks like a lonely four years coming up for those who delight in alphabetizing.

Hoover Stays

Detractors of J. Edgar Hoover, who had hoped the change of administrations in Washington would dislodge the FBI chief, are disappointed. The 73-year-old Hoover will remain in the post he has held for 44 years.

When Mr. Hoover assumed control, the FBI was riddled with politics and cluttered with incompetents. Under him the bureau has become legendary for competence.

He has always taken pains to prevent the bureau from becoming a national police force, and although during the riots of recent years there has been some pressure to turn control of these over to an expanded FBI, Hoover has resisted.

That is the duty of state and local police, he believes. He prefers that the agency continue to be primarily investigative.

His competence and availability mean there is one less decision Mr. Nixon must make just now.

Stashed In Switzerland

What American would put his money in a bank thousands of miles away which charges him for keeping his funds there, no matter how large the account?

An American who has something to hide, that's who.

Foreign banks, principally Swiss, long have indulged the underworld, the tax evader and other types who have money they don't want anyone to know about — especially Uncle Sam — in secret bank accounts. Presumably, not even the bank president knows who has hot money in his bank.

Apparently it is not difficult to establish one of these secret hiding places, and a growing number of Americans are playing the game. Now Washington has decided the time has come to shut the money gate and U.S. officials are conferring with the Swiss about those secret accounts.

This is a touchy subject for the Swiss, who have built a worldwide reputation — and a considerable banking business — just keeping their mouths shut about whose money they have and how much.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

The supreme court ruling on Darwin's theory about man descending from the monkey now permits the teaching of evolution in all states of the Union. I recall a book written by John E. S. Wood about twenty-five years ago in which a committee of gorillas, monkeys and chimpanzees went to heaven to complain that they were insulted because man said he descended from them. The committee felt that the aggression and hostility that exists in many parts of the world probably would not continue if monkeys descended from man, rather than man from monkeys.

It was at the time of the ruling that a group of baboons were used at the Medical College of Virginia to keep alive human beings whose livers failed to function. The baboons forgave us and were willing to give us another chance.

Dr. David M. Hume was able to replace a baboon's blood with human blood and then, with a highly technical device, use the baboon's liver to clear the patient's blood of all impurities. The remarkable aspects of this courageous scientific work is that the baboon was not hurt and did not have to be sacrificed. In fact the same baboon could be used again to save the life of another patient.

This highly imaginative and brilliant advance is just the beginning of a technique that may open wide avenues for the preservation of life in heart, lung, kidney and liver failure. I suppose we do owe the monkeys and their relatives some kind of an apology, along with our evidence of gratitude.

Rickets is a severe nutritional deficiency which seems to have been eradicated in the United States. I say seems to have been eradicated because that is the general impression, despite the fact that there are still some areas in this country in which children suffer from rickets and fail to develop normally because of inadequate nourishment.

In slum areas in the United States and in underprivileged countries of the world, the disease is pathetically rampant. Rickets is curable in a remarkably simple way by the use of high doses of vitamin D. This vitamin affects the calcium and phosphorus deposits in the bone by aiding in the absorption of these minerals from the intestinal tract. Only in rare instances, $21 million.

The Business World

By JACK LEFLER (For John Cuniff)

NEW YORK (AP) — The fired-up economy is surprisingly defiant of efforts to cool it off.

Early this year, government officials and many private economists were telling the American people and exhorting Congress that the only thing needed to slow the rate of business expansion and accompanying inflation was a 10 per cent tax surcharge coupled with a cut in government spending.

A long-reluctant Congress imposed the tax boost July 1.

Economists forecast that deceleration would begin at a moderate pace in the third quarter and show substantial results in the fourth quarter.

It didn't work out that way. "Developments during 1968 have emphasized anew how difficult it is to forecast the pace of economic activity," says Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. in its year-end business review.

"In general, neither government nor private economists were at all accurate in the projections they made for the year as a whole, and their misjudgments were widely shared by business men, high officials in the administration, congressmen on both sides of the aisle and journalists.

Forecasters were confounded, for one thing, by the failure of consumers to restrain their recent buying habits despite the extra 10 per cent tax bite on their paychecks.

Retail sales did slip in September and October but rebounded sharply in November. Indications were that if retail sales were less than robust during the Christmas season it would be mainly because a lot of shoppers stayed home because of the flu epidemic.

Statistics indicated that consumers were dipping into their savings to maintain their accustomed standard of living. And there were the factors of higher employment and widespread increases in wages and salaries. Forecasters also had expected that the income tax boost, which would slice profits, would cause corporations to pull in their horns as far as expenditures for new plants and equipment.

Instead, according to the Commerce Department, "business seems to have embarked on a new round of investment spending which will have important stimulating effects on an economy operating at very high employment rates."

Economists were surprised that the Gross National Product — total of all goods and services — jumped by $18.1 billion in the third quarter to an annual rate of $871 billion when they had expected an increase of about $12 billion.

Now the Commerce Department says there will be a sizeable increase in the Gross National Product in the fourth quarter — "not much different from the rise in the third."

The conclusion seems to be that consumers and business executives have decided to spend now because prices might well be higher next year.

The odds against snow falling in Washington on Inauguration Day, Jan. 20, are 20 to 1, according to the Environmental Sciences Administration, which knows about that sort of thing. Only one thing we're sure of: it's bound to be a cold day — for the Democrats.

Odds against any kind of precipitation on Inauguration Day are 6 to 1, says the ESA. Let's hope the prognosticators in their predictions don't prove all wet!

Our guess is that Jan. 20 will be mostly sunny with few clouds, since Inauguration Day is on Monday — Blue Monday, that is.

Two northern Illinois women friends have been sending the same holiday greeting card back-and-forth to each other since 1938. We think it's a great idea since the only one making money from that greeting card is Uncle Sam and his Post Office.

You've got to hand it to Miss Violet Booth, 100-year-old spinster who threw a champagne party on her birthday. She certainly had things popping!

The total cost of the American Revolutionary War was $144,555,642 — Factograph item. And, we'll all agree, it was worth every penny of it!

Before setting out to shovel snow, advises a household hint columnist, first heat the shovel's blade and then coat it with wax. Great idea! — by the time we've finished doing that maybe the white stuff will have happily melted away!

NEW YORK (AP) — Every man lives a dog's life part of the time, but I think that if I were to be reborn as a different kind of animal I'd prefer to be a cat.

For one thing a cat has nine lives—so if at first it doesn't succeed, it can always try, try again.

For most of my years I have been a dog lover, but the older and wiser I get the more I respect cats.

A dog is usually a clown, an exhibitionist, a showoff, a crowd pleaser if you will, who spends most of his time on earth wagging his tail and appealing for applause. A cat, on the other hand, is a prime example of enlightened self-interest. She meets life strictly on her own terms and rarely asks or needs a pat on the back.

My mentor in feline psychology is a cat named Lady Dottie, a fugitive from some suburban alley who has been a nonpaying guest in my home for more than 10 years. A black mustache on her face gives her a weird resemblance to Adolf Hitler, but she has none of his ranting fanaticism.

Snow Shovelers Warning Given

CHICAGO (AP) — Snow shovelers are prime candidates for heart attacks, the American Medical Association warns.

But, it said, if you are sure you are physically fit, go ahead with the snow-shoveling task.

Student Unrest, Grim Disasters Marked May, 1968

EDITOR'S NOTE—Following is the fifth of 12 articles on The Year That Was—a review of the events which made 1968 unique news year.

By JOY STILLEY
Associated Press Writer
It was a month of grim statistics:
Twenty-five miners were trapped in a soft coal mine at Hominy Falls, W. Va., May 6, when water from an adjacent shaft flooded the tunnels. Fifteen were rescued May 11 and six more five days later. Four drowned.

Twice death struck heavy blows from the air: On May 3 all 85 persons aboard a jet died in a crash near Dawson, Tex., and on May 22 the most disastrous helicopter crash in the nation's history killed 23 near Los Angeles.

In mid-May, tornadoes that hit an 11-state area in the Midwest and South left 70 dead and at least 1,000 injured. Seven children and two adults died when an explosion leveled a day nursery in Hopeville, Ga.

Overdue after a three-month training mission were 99 members of the crew of the U.S.

Navy nuclear submarine Scorpion. A massive search began May 27 failed to reveal any trace of the vessel.

Elsewhere, too, the news was disquieting.

Student unrest and dissatisfaction, which had already made itself felt in previous flareups, took a more serious turn in France. On May 4 new student demonstrations erupted, underlining demands for greater control of university functions.

As the revolt continued, the turmoil spread to labor, which called a general strike marked by a gigantic parade through the heart of Paris. On this same day May 13, peace talks between North Vietnam and the United States began in that city.

Strikes finally involved a third of France's work force, tying up transportation and other vital services. The De Gaulle regime, which had been seriously threatened as the number of strikers reached 10 million, was upheld in the National Assembly when censure failed by 11 votes.

Student discontent was not confined to France. It showed itself on campuses all over the world. At New York's Columbia University, after police had been called upon to end a student siege, classes were held only sporadically.

Everywhere young people were revolting against the establishment—authority in any form. In the United States their demands were specifically for Black Power and for student power. They pressed for action by seizing university buildings, and violence was common.

In Washington, marchers in the Poor People's Campaign set up housekeeping in a settlement camp near the Lincoln Memorial.

Their demands ranged from child care and school desegregation to food programs and job provision.

presently stationed in Vietnam. His address is: Pfc. Richard Speakman 2389517, India Co. 1st Plt. 35, 1st Marine Div., FPO San Francisco, Calif. 96602. Following is his poem:

I'm really not what you call a poet and my writing will definitely show it. With God's help, I'll try and do my best to describe to you by fearful and tearful test.

Mother? When I left you, you had a son. But now this is a real man in some what of a hum. As you know, I'm now a real Marine, and we have always been known to be on the beam.

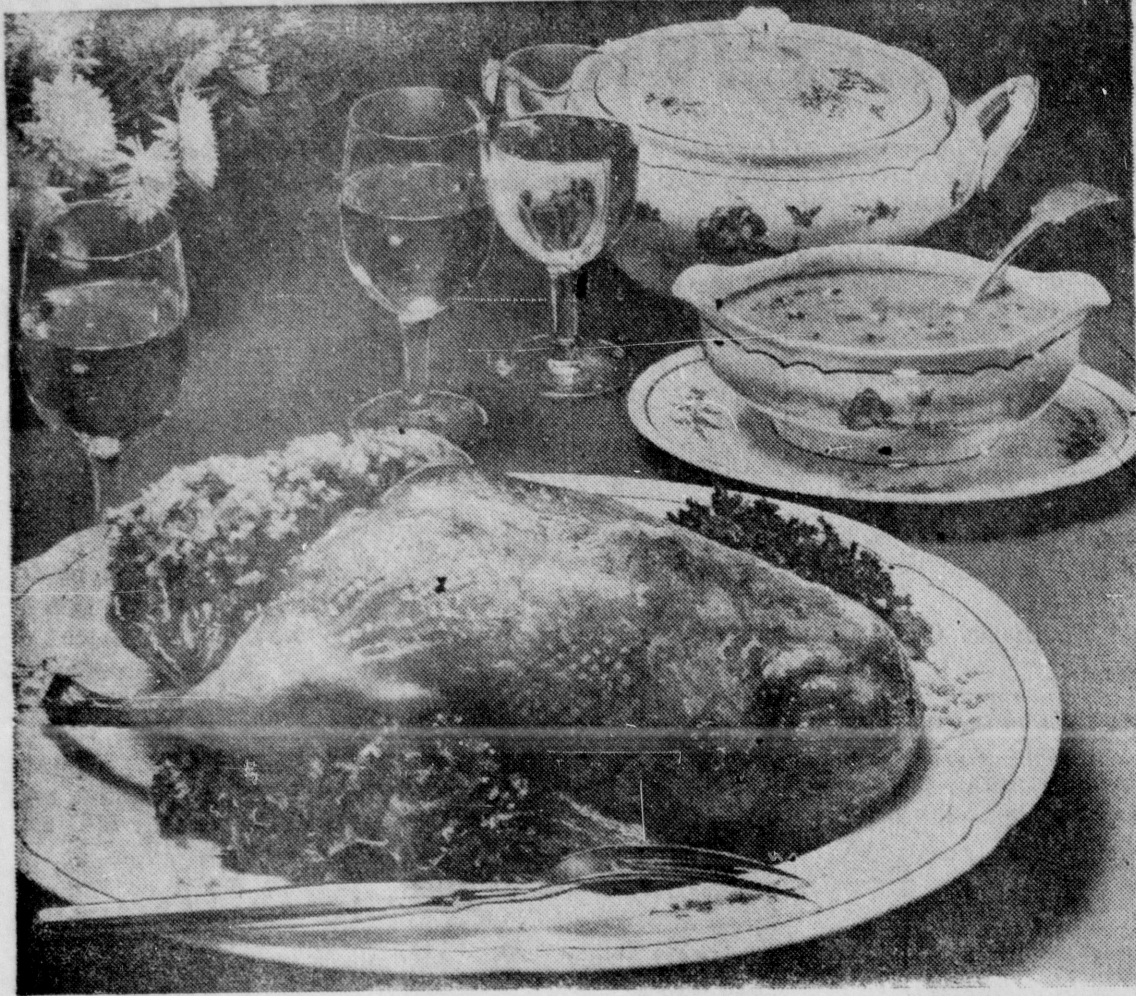

Yes, it's true, I'm here in Vietnam, staying alive and killing the Viet Cong. But there are others just like me. We want to come home and be turned free.

There has to be a key to unlock the door. And it is politics that will end this war. I'm proud to say that I'm part of you, but sad to say that times turn girl friends untrue.

The people say that we are praying for you. And this I hope, will make my dreams come true. So I'm proud to say, I'll do my best. So my country won't have to see the rest.

And as I said, I'm not ashamed to show it. So, I hope and pray and sure I'll be there for the day, I can really say, Mom, here I am, home to stay!

Eventful Dining Brings Old Year To Festive End

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

There are countless ways to enjoy New Year's Eve, and we've tried them all.

Once (and just once is enough) we joined the thousands in Times Square. We've danced the old year away at night clubs. We've gone the party route, tossing our own or attending somebody else's.

Last year, we tried something new. We stayed home and had the most wonderful time of all. The evening started with a late candle-light dinner-for-two with background music of long-time favorites on the phonograph. Then we looked at some old home movies — were our kids ever that little? At midnight we woke the youngsters to add delightful din to the occasion, then we all had a sip of bubbly stuff (ginger-ale for them, champagne for us).

What makes New Year's Eve an occasion, after all, if it isn't sharing it with those you love? If dinner-for-two is your idea of how to spend New Year's Eve, you might try today's menu suggestions.

The duck recipe is one discovered in the Lake Country of New York State, where native wines of ten are employed to add flavor and interest to the menu — from appetizers to desserts. Tart apples and a touch of rosemary flavor the dressing, which may be mixed ahead to blend flavors. Do NOT stuff the duckling until you're all ready to roast it and do remember to prick it all over with a fork so fat will drain off as the bird cooks. If you have a rotisserie, it will cook your duck to perfection.

Taffy Mint Ice Cream as a pie or parafais is an excellent choice for dessert. It is light, flavorful and the kids will enjoy a taste if you wake them up to see in the New Year with you.

DUCKLING WITH FLAVORFUL STUFFING
1 duckling (approx. 4 1/2 lbs)
1 (8 ounce) package herb seasoned bread stuffing mix or 1 qt. bread crumbs
1/4 cup finely diced celery
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 tablespoon minced onion
2 tart apples, chopped
1/2 teaspoon rosemary
1/4 cup white dinner wine
Wash duckling; pat dry; remove surplus fat from body cavity. Cook giblets in 1 1/2 cups water, reserve for gravy.
Prepare stuffing mix as directed on package. Add celery, parsley, onion, apples, rosemary and wine.
Stuff and truss duckling.

Roast at 350 F. for 2 1/2 to 3 hours or until drumsticks are tender (25 to 30 minutes per pound).

If desired, remove from oven 1/2 hour before end of cooking time and brush with a mixture of 2 tablespoons honey and 1/2 teaspoon Kitchen Bouquet.

Return to the oven to glaze the duck.

GIBLET-WINE GRAVY
4 tablespoons fat
4 tablespoons flour
1 (3 ounce) can broiled mushrooms
1/4 cup white wine.
Remove duckling from roasting pan. Pour off all but 4 tablespoons fat, leaving brown drippings. Blend in 4 tablespoons flour.

Measure broth from giblets. Add liquid from mushrooms and enough water (if necessary) to make 2 cups; add to pan. Cook and stir over medium heat until smooth and thickened. Remove from heat.

Add 1/4 cup white wine, mushrooms and chopped giblets. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Makes about 2 1/2 cups gravy.

TAFFY MINT ICE CREAM PIE AND PARAFAIS

3/4 cup evaporated milk
1 1/2 teaspoon lemon juice
1-3 cup molasses
1-8 teaspoon salt
1-8 teaspoon peppermint flavoring

(8 inch) baked pastry shell
Chill evaporated milk in freezer tray of refrigerator until ice crystals form around edges. Turn into chilled bowl and whip with rotary beater or on high speed of electric mixer until milk is stiff.

Add lemon juice and beat until blended.

Combine molasses, salt and peppermint flavoring; fold into whipped evaporated milk.

For ice cream, turn into refrigerator tray; freeze.

For pie, turn mixture into prepared pastry shell; freeze.

If desired, top pie with toasted flaked coconut.

For parafais, alternate ice cream mixture with ginger cookie crumbs in parafai glasses; freeze.

Yield: Approximately 1 quart ice cream or filling for 1 (8-inch) pie or 4 to 6 parafais.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

High-Heeling Mom Kicks Son In Face

DEAR ABBY: Please print this and help wake up a mother who is neglecting her 4-year-old son. She happens to be my divorced daughter. She works, taking him to a nursery Monday thru Friday. She gets home each day at 5:30 p.m., gives him supper and puts him in bed. On Monday she starts trying to find someone to keep the boy from Friday after work until late Sunday evening, so she can kick up her heels and act like a teen-ager at some cheap dance hall. Abby, she is 24.

This little boy begs to go to Sunday School, but our daughter won't take him. She says he has plenty of time for that, and she has her own life to think about.

She never takes the child anywhere. His grandmothers take him occasionally, but he needs a mother's love. His daddy is as bad as his mother. He promises to come and see him, and the poor kid looks in the window for him all day Sunday and no daddy shows up. What can I do?

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: If you can't make your daughter realize what an injustice she is doing her son during his impressionable, formative years, take the child whenever you can and try to compensate for the love and attention he is being denied by his parents. (I've always said, before marriage mental tests should be required by law, not blood tests.)

DEAR ABBY: It was bad enough when my girl friend found out about my wife. But when my wife found out about my girl friend I really was in trouble. To make matters worse, these two have become very good friends and they have coffee together about once a week. What do you think they're cooking up?

HARRY

DEAR HARRY: Your goose, probably.

DEAR ABBY: You've got to help me. I'm an 18-year-old girl who is going steady with a 22-year-old guy who keeps after me to "prove my love."

We've gone together for a year now, and Abby, I DO love him, but I just can't see myself "proving" it the way he wants me to. He says it's not wrong if two people love each other and plan to get married some day.

But Abby, I just wasn't raised that way. We fight about this all the time. He's really a swell guy, and I'd give my right arm for him. What should I do?

BLUE EYES

DEAR BLUE EYES: Tell him to be a man, "prove" his love and control himself. And if he still keeps after you, he's not worth your right arm. What he needs is a right hook.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "IN LOVE WITH A BELLY DANCER IN CHICAGO." Tell her you've had a bellyful of her excuses and have a "gut" feeling it won't work.

School Plans Are Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Supt. of Public Instruction Martin W. Essex, writing in the January issue of the Department of Education's News Letter, reviewed recent action taken by the Little Hoover Commission on education.

Essex said that the commission had developed a practical framework for studying school business practices. It estimated that improved business management could make more than $118 million available annually for other educational uses.

Last October 128 Ohio school administrators met and urged that 217 of the 258 Little Hoover Commission recommendations be implemented by Ohio schools.

But, Essex wrote, 131 of the 217 proposals require action by local boards of education. "Plans are in progress for seminars in six regions of Ohio to offer experienced consultant service and to facilitate an exchange of successful practices," Essex wrote. "In addition, it is anticipated that consultants will be made available by the department to assist school districts in exploring various approaches to optimum business and purchasing practice."

Tigers Blow First Half Lead In Loss

The Circleville Tigers were edged by a fired up Viking team by four points in the last seconds, 80-76, at Teays Valley Friday.

The Tigers led most of the ball game and were ahead by ten points at one time in the second period. The game was a mayday of fouls and turnovers.

The Vikings sank the Tigers in the last minute when they, leading by only two points, took advantage of a foul and a turnover committed by the visitors. Teays Valley took advantage of the chance the desperate Tigers gave them and extended their lead to five points. Circleville managed to get one point back on a foul shot but was unable to successfully break the Viking press as the last whistle blew ending the tilt.

The Tigers out-shot the hosts from the field by hitting 32 of 73 shots for a 42 per cent shooting average. They also made 50 percent of their shots from the charity stripe. They allowed Teays Valley 26 free throws of which the Vikings made 18 for a 69 per cent average. The Vikings made one less shot from the field, 31 of 77, a 40 per cent average, but made up for the two points from the charity stripe.

HIGH man laurels for the game were shared by Dale Lambert and Ed McCord of Teays Valley who both garnered 22 points. Lambert made ten shots from the field while completing two of three free throws. McCord made nine buckets. He also made four points at the charity line out of five attempts.

Phil Diehl was high man for the Tigers for the second time in two weeks as he managed to fight for 17 points. He completed six of eight shots from the field and made five shots from the charity stripe. This was Diehl's second highest game of the season with his high being 19 against Hillsboro in the Tigers' only win of the year last week.

Circleville played a much improved brand of basketball for most of the first quarter but were unable to control the ball and stop the rampaging Vikings. The visitors turned the ball over to the Vikings 19 times during the course of the tilt and the Vikings returned the ball to the Tigers one more time than they got it.

As the game started, the Vikings controlled the first tip. Neither team was able to score until Ty Ankrom put Circleville ahead by two points with 6:59 left in the first quarter. The Tigers started out fast to take the lead from the dumbfounded Vikings and were six points ahead before Teays Valley found the range. The Tiger enjoyed as much as an eight point spread with two minutes left to play in the quarter, but found themselves leading by only six markers at the first whistle, 16-10.

When the second stanza got under way the Vikings set out to catch and surpass the Tigers who matched them bucket for bucket until the last minute when the hosts got within two points, the nearest that they were to come in the quarter. The half ended with the Tigers an uneasy two points ahead, 37-35.

Circleville took 41 shots in the first half, two less than Teays Valley, but made ten of 12 shots from the charity stripe which accounts for the two point difference in the score.

AFTER intermission the Tigers got the tip but were unable to tally a point and they turned the ball over to the anxious Vikings who then managed to tie the score. The visitors came right back with a bucket as the lead changed hand five times before it was well established by the Vikings. The Tigers never led in the tilt again and only came within two points of the victors in the last seconds. As the quarter came to a close the Tigers found themselves trailing by four points, 57-53.

Teays Valley got the tip at the start of the last eight minutes and immediately extended their lead to six on a layup by Larry Dixon. Teays Valley led by as much as ten points before the Tigers started to close the gap.

With 56 seconds left in the game Circleville drew within two points of the Vikings. They were unable to get any closer as the hosts went into a freeze for the last minute and then put the game out of reach on a layup by Dale Lambert. The game ended with Teays Valley the victors by a slim four points, 80-76.

The Vikings now own a 4-5 mark overall while Circleville is 1-6. Next Teays Valley game is a home contest with Dublin Jan. 10. Circleville returned to the South Central Ohio League with a game Jan. 3 at Wilmington. The following night they host Franklin Heights, who beat Teays Valley, 85-69, earlier this season.

Little Tigers Dumped By TV In 51-35 Prelim

Teays Valley's little Vikings stormed past Circleville reserves, 51-35, Friday in the preliminary tilt at Teays Valley.

The Tigers were never in the tilt as they repeatedly fouled and turned the ball over to the hosts. They scored only three points in the first period.

HIGH man for the game was Circleville's Rod Kasper, who netted 16 on seven field goals and a free toss. He was the only Tiger to crack into double figures.

Brent Roof netted 14 for Teays Valley on six shots from the field and two from the floor. The Tigers went to the charity line only 12 times in the tilt, converting five. Teays Valley visited the stripe 28 times, canning 15.

The long, long weekend got started Friday night when Richmond upset favored and previously unbeaten Ohio University 49-42 in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla.

The explosive passing combination of Richmond quarterback Buster O'Brien and end Walker Gillette was too much for Ohio, 10-0 going into the game.

Today's line-up had Missouri, 7-3, vs. Alabama, 8-2, in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla.; Auburn, 6-4, vs. Arizona, 8-2, in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex.; and two games matching all-star teams. Those are the East-West Shrine Game at San Francisco and the Blue-Gray at Montgomery, Ala.

The television schedule, all times EST, has the Gator on ABC-TV at 1:30 p.m., followed by the East-West, also ABC, at 4:30 p.m. The Blue-Gray is on CBS-TV at 1 p.m., followed by the Sun Bowl, also CBS, at 4 p.m.

Baltimore Bullets Drub Milwaukee

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Baltimore Bullets came to a virtual standstill in the second half—hitting only 50 points—but their first-half explosion was more than enough to carry them to yet another victory.

The Bullets, who won only 20 games last year while losing 62, raced to their 23rd triumph—against only eight losses—and a three-game bulge at the top of the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association with a 136-122 drubbing of the hapless Milwaukee Bucks Friday night.

In the only other game the New York Knicks held off San Diego for a 111-109 victory.

Keyes and Perry Williams of Purdue and Ron Johnson of Michigan make their team a slight favorite in the East-West game, while Auburn is a 10-11 point favorite over Arizona, which lost its last game after accepting the Sun Bowl bid.

Missouri and Alabama, two of the nation's top defensive units, expect a low-scoring game in the Gator Bowl, through Alabama Coach Bear Bryant said he hoped it would be otherwise. The Blue-Gray matched Southern speed against the passing of Greg Cook of Cincinnati, with the scoring expected to be high.

Hayes Still Says OSU Will Win

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Ohio State should get a 14-point spot in its Rose Bowl clash with Southern California on New Year's Day.

That's the way Buckeye Coach Woody Hayes figures it. But he's not saying the Trojans are two touchdowns better than his team.

"Any team coming here should get a 14 point spot and for a lot of reasons," Hayes said Friday.

"By the time we play, the kids will have been away from home two weeks. We can't have as efficient practices as we do back home. And practice to me is what still wins football games," he said.

Wilmington Wins, 69-50

Wilmington trounced Blanchester in the only action involving an SCOL member last night in a Holiday tourney at Clinton, 69-50.

The win gave the Hurricane a chance at the finals which will be held tonight. Wilmington will take on East Clinton, who won their game last night, 65-60, over Clinton-Massie.

The Hurricane took a seven point lead at the end of the first quarter of play and extended that lead for the rest of the game. They led at one point in the tilt by 23 points.

High scorer for Wilmington was Chuck Buster who made 11 shots from the field and three points from the charity stripe. His total of 25 points also gave him the high man laurels for the game.

HIGH man for Blanchester was Bogan, who managed 13 points against the rampaging Hurricane. He connected on four field goals and made five shots from the free throw line.

This was the fifth win of the season for the Wilmington team and their second lowest effort of the year.

Slight Lamonica Injury May Hamper Raider Attack

By MURRAY CHASS

NEW YORK (AP) — The condition of the weather, Daryle Lamonica and Warren Wells were all that remained for discussion today as the Oakland Raiders and the New York Jets geared up for Sunday's American Football League championship game.

The weather involved snow, rain, wind and cold. Lamonica, the Raiders' quarterback, was involved with a sore right thumb and Wells with a bruised heel. Both were involved in a bit of a mystery.

Both teams were prevented from running through a light, final workout at Shea Stadium today because the frozen field was covered with a tarpaulin. As long as bad weather threatens, the tarp probably won't be removed until some time before the game starts.

NBC will televise the contest nationally, with the New York area blacked out, starting at 1 p.m. EST.

As thorny a problem as the weather is, though, Coach John Rauch and the Raiders had to be more concerned with Lamonica, the man who makes the passing attack go, and Wells, one of his big helpers.

Lamonica hurt the thumb on his throwing hand in the fourth quarter of Oakland's Western Division playoff game with Kansas City last Sunday. He didn't return to the game although no one really noticed it because Oakland had such a big lead.

The Raiders didn't say anything about the thumb until Friday when Rauch finally was asked about it. The same situation prevailed for Wells' bruised heel.

1. Card of Thanks

In loving memory of Sarah Reed Gilmore who passed away December 28, 1967. One year today God took our beloved Mother and Grandmother away. She was sick and in pain, you God handed out your hand and there was no more pain. We miss her a lot, we want you to know. But she's in Heaven now with you. Sadly missed by daughters: Fairy Gulick, Gloria McNamara and Grandchildren.

Spacemen Eager For Last Leg Of Journey—Return To Homes

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — For the world the fantastic moon saga of Apollo 8 ended Friday with the ship's Pacific Ocean splashdown. For the families of the three astronauts it won't end until 5 a.m. EST Sunday.

That's when planes will return Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr., and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders to Ellington Air Force Base near the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston.

"Frank's coming home," said Mrs. Borman Friday. "That's all that we're looking for."

In the crush of well-wishers that jammed their homes, the three wives still found time for private conversation with their husbands over special space agency telephones installed in each home.

"It was just great," said Valerie Anders, of her talk with her husband aboard the USS Yorktown.

Borman will find the youngest of his two teen-aged sons with a broken left hand. No one would say how it got broken.

And Anders' 4-year-old son

Eric—the youngest of five children—was in bed with 102-degree temperature, but was allowed to come into the living room to watch the splashdown on television.

A Mass at the Anders home after splashdown was recited by the Rev. Dennis Berry, a family friend from La Mesa, Calif., the astronaut's hometown. Mrs. Lovell went to Communion early the morning of splashdown and Mrs. Borman's minister was in the Borman house at that anxiety-filled time.

This Christmas, which she spent without her husband, meant to her "the reality that we can get along together and have a deep and abiding faith in each other," Mrs. Borman said.

She said she thought the flight would bring the world closer. "This is our hope," she said. "This was their message to the world—we've got to get together."

Mrs. Anders said, "I really feel this peace on earth, good will toward men coming this far from a lot of people—not only from friends, but from friends of friends."

"I feel very humble, very full of gratitude," And Mrs. Lovell said no word in the dictionary can describe how she felt.

Pedestrian Hit By Truck

A Circleville pedestrian was injured when struck by a truck on E. Main St. Friday.

Taken to Berger Hospital for emergency treatment was Ronald Bensonhaver, 21, of 114½ E. Main St. He was suffering from bruises and abrasions to his right arm, leg and ribs.

Bensonhaver was darting from the north to the south side of E. Main St. near the mid-block crosswalk, but not in it, when he was struck by a DuPont owned van truck about 12:48 p.m. according to witnesses. The truck was driven by Charles McQuaide of Hallsville.

Witnesses stated that Bensonhaver ran directly in front of the truck, making it impossible for him to avoid the accident.

No citations were issued by the Circleville Police Department.

Kenneth Kirby Fails To File Campaign Costs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Secretary of state still lacks an expense report from one congressional candidate.

He is Kenneth L. Kirby, unsuccessful Democratic candidate in the 6th District. Kirby moved from Portsmouth to Lake Panasoffkee, Fla., shortly after the Nov. 5 general election.

Incumbent Rep. William Harsha, a Republican, easily won re-election.

Failure to file expense statements prohibits a candidate from running for office for five years.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said he would "wait a reasonable time before writing the attorney general" about Kirby's failure to report expenses.

He said the attorney general normally would notify the candidate of the situation and "they usually file them, if not before."

Airliner Crews, Passengers Watch Apollo's Return

HONOLULU (AP) — "It started small and then—boom—it was right across the sky for miles and miles," said Ken Dolan.

"He's a red ball of fire followed by a long streamer of white in a cadence of material...that must be 100 miles in length," said Capt. Jake Marcum.

Those were some of the descriptions Friday from the crew and passengers of three Pan American airliners after witnessing Apollo 8's return to earth.

The Apollo 8 broke into the earth's atmosphere before dawn and, said Capt. Jim Holliday, "it was pitch-black except for the stars and this thing going by."

Marcum was skipper of Flight 811, from Honolulu to Sydney, Australia. Holliday was in command of Flight 812, from Fiji. The third plane was captained by H.R. Lackey, heading for Honolulu from Guam.

The State Supreme Court held Thursday that "after a careful scrutiny of the obscenity decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court, we hold that the representation of the nude human body in a nonsexual context had not violated the penal code."

Games Fold Up

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Liquor Department Director Donald D. Cook said Friday that the Kroger Co. has "quietly folded" its promotional games in all Ohio cities except Toledo. And Cook warned that if the game, "Sure Thing," is not halted in the Toledo area, the stores involved holding liquor permits will be issued permit violation citations next week.

Train, Truck Collide; Local Driver Unhurt

A train and truck collided at the Washington St. intersection of the N-W tracks Friday afternoon. The Circleville driver, though escaping injuries, was treated for shock.

John Wilkins, 63, of 550 E. Union St., was northbound on Washington St. about 12:45 p.m. Friday when the accident occurred, according to a report of the Circleville Police Department.

Wilkins told officers that he stopped at the tracks when he saw the flashing signal lights, but proceeded to drive onto the tracks when he didn't see the train. The 1955-model truck stalled on the tracks, at which time, Wilkins stated, he saw the train coming toward him.

He stated that he jumped from his truck just as the train struck it. The truck was carried one block, from Washington to Pickaway St., following the collision. The vehicle was demolished.

Wilkins was taken to Berger Hospital and treated for shock.

Hill Firm Burglarized

About $900 in tools and equipment was stolen from the Hill Implement Company on Route 23 Saturday morning, according to a report of the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

The theft, which included tools, space heaters and tool boxes, was reported about 7 a.m. by Joe Cupp, an employee of the company who noticed the act upon arriving for work.

Entry to the building was gained by breaking a window in a door and then reaching through the broken window and turning the lock.

The heavy equipment was taken from the building through an overhead door, opened by the thieves, and loaded onto a truck.

Only the items taken were disturbed, according to the report by Deputy Warren Straley, who stated that other items of value and the company offices were not bothered.

The incident is still under investigation by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

O'Hare Field

Falls, S. D., said, "The plane started to rock violent as we approached the airport. No one knew what was going on. The plane jolted . . . I was thrown from my seat. It was hot and it kept getting hotter. People were screaming and calling for help . . . There was a rush of cold air and someone at the door helped us out. Someone put me in an ambulance and brought me to the hospital."

Jeffereie Chiu, 18, a member of the Vanguards, said, "There were eight members of the corps and a few airline employees in the hangar. We heard an explosion . . . The plane had already fallen. I looked around to see where my boys were and they ran toward me. They were on fire. We all saw the fire and the walls collapsed toward us."

"I was not hurt," Chiu said, "since I was about 30 feet away from the others. I'm the only one that didn't get burned."

Three Mishaps Checked By OSP

The Circleville Post of the State Highway Patrol reported three non-injury accidents, due mostly to slippery conditions Friday.

The first accident occurred at 6:15 a.m. Friday at the intersection of Route 23 and Shepard Road. A car, driven by John Preston, 41, of Miller Trailer Court, was northbound when it slid off the road, went over the median and came to rest on a fence. The car was moderately damaged.

The second accident happened later Friday morning on Route 23 three miles south of the Route 22 intersection. A car driven by Toni L. Combs, 21, Chillicothe, hit a fence when the auto slipped off the pavement on a curve. The car was only slightly damaged.

Antiflea Collars Can Be Irritable

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Those antiflea collars may keep the bugs off Fido, but some of them can cause irritations to pet owners, two Atlanta skin specialists say.

Drs. Paul G. Cronce and Herbert S. Alden said in the journal of the American Medical Association that the collars contain an insecticide which can cause irritation and chemical burns.

The doctors reported tracing irritations in four humans to petting or handling of dogs wearing flea collars.

Deputy Foils Burglary Try

A burglary in progress was interrupted early Saturday morning by Sheriff's Deputy Richard Clark.

Clark reported that he was making his regular rounds when he pulled onto the lot of Clifton Motor Sales on S. Court St. about 12:56 a.m. and noticed a man fleeing from the east side of the building.

The deputy chased the unidentified person across the S. Court St. School playgrounds and over to S. Third St. where he lost him.

Further investigation at the scene revealed that an attempt had been made to pry a door of the building open with a brick and wood chisel. No entry was made.

The incident is still under investigation by the sheriff's department with the help of a close description of the subject provided by Deputy Clark.
